- South Africa's $21.5 billion SME funding gap is really a data problem — TechCabal, 18 September 2026

SOUTH AFRICA

An African Bank executive argues that South Africa's estimated R350 billion small-business financing gap persists despite funders doubling since 2018 because lenders lack usable data on small firms. It is a commentary, and the remedies it proposes are a lender's view rather than policy. Also under Access to services.
